Half expect to be millionaires

Half of all students expect to be millionaires by the age of 35, and nearly a third expect to make it by the age of 30, according to a survey. However, nine out of 10 students said they expected their parents to provide financial support for them as they worked toward their first million. The 500 students interviewed said they expected parents to help them with things like weddings and setting up businesses. Forty-six percent of would-be millionaires said they thought the best way to make their fortune was through investments. Another 19 percent said they would make their money through business, and 14 percent said they would earn it through salaries if they worked hard enough.

6. A million is ______.
   (A) 1,000,000  (B) 100,000  (C) 10,000,000  (D) 100,000,000
